Strategies for Reducing Antipsychotic Drug Use in all Long Term Care Settings

Antipsychotic drug use for residents/tenants with dementia is undergoing intense regulatory and public scrutiny. This webinar will provide guidance on how nursing homes and assisted living programs can successfully reduce antipsychotic drug use for those suffering from dementia. During the webinar there will be a review of the revised F-tag 329 for nursing facilities and a discussion concerning antipsychotic medication use in assisted living tenants with dementia. You will learn how to incorporate a team approach for antipsychotic medication reduction including proper assessment, non-pharmacological interventions, and proper documentation.
